WHO'S WHO AND WHY!

WHAS SHOP TALK TOPIC. Nev. H. J. Wyckoff Heard at Crescent Firearms Company.

There was a large attendance of the employes of the Crescent Firearms company on Monday at the noon hour ganised baseball by refusing to report have Tommy Ryan, ex-middleweight in 1909 to the Brooklyn club, which title holder, looking after his work. had title to his services by reservaof the Second Congregational church, this talk being the sixth in the series at the shop given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. General Secretary Starkey was present, and Mrs. L. O. Potter gave two solos which were greatly appreciated, singing 'If Thou art True' and 'My Name in Mother's Prayer,' an Alexander favorite. Rev. Mr. Wyckoff spoks upon the subject Who's Who and Why? People want to know about other folks and their doings, he said, and the interest New Years

This interest is usually based, pririly, on what is said about these ; ple; that is, on gossip or reputa-libility in the interest continues i leads to a closer concern with and leads to a closer concern with their life, it is not content with stories of what such folk are supposed to be, but seeks to discover what they really are to wit, their character. Kindness Better Than Whip. An example of where kindness goes farther than a whip was shown on Monday afternoon at the Norwish Savings society corner, where a sleigh was stalled on the vitrified brick parement with a heavy load of hay and grain. The gray house of the pair refused to budge on the slippery footing and the whip made no difference to him. But when a bystander gave him a tub or two on the nose he settled into the collar with his whole weight and yanked the lead off the bricks in a fifty.

who is that can be found; namely, cheeself. The most important personage to you is yourself; and if you ask me and why." I shall be forced to believe that you have never been properly written up; and, with your permission, will endeavor to show you who's Who—and Why?"

As has been said, some people get into prominence by means of a reputation; but the man who can hold first rank in his own estimation will have to discover a better foundation than reputation for his good opinion of himself; he will need to dis down to the rock of character. What he is supposed to be may satisfy the casual inquiry, who's Wno?" but when the snapper to the whip cracks out "And Why?" he must produce that which he result is.
